

UNION LABOR'S GALA DAY

Ideal Weather Conditions Prevailed Generally on Labor Day.

Non-Union Band March in Chicago—Debs Caused Disruption at Knoxville, Tenn.

St. Louis, Sept. 5.—Ideal weather conditions prevailed Monday when 17,000 members of the Central Trades and Labor union formed in line and, with waving flags and bands playing, marched through cheering crowds to Lemp's park, where an all-day celebration was made. The sun shone fair, and a bracing atmosphere made marching a pleasure.

The Building Trades Council did not parade, but had a grand picnic at Forest Park Highlands.

The printers held a picnic at Normandy grove.

Non-Union Band in Parade.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5.—Ideal weather conditions prevailed here for the observance of Labor day. The union labor parade, numbering several thousand marchers, was the chief attraction. The parade was halted when it was discovered that a teamsters' union was marching behind a non-union band. Committees went into conference on a street corner. The trouble was adjusted and the parade resumed.

Debs Was at Knoxville.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 5.—The Labor day celebration was without the usual parade, many unions refusing to participate because of the presence of Eugene V. Debs. Debs spoke to a very small crowd.

Dedicated Labor Temple.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 5.—The newly completed $50,000 labor temple was dedicated in this city immediately following the Labor day parade, the largest affair of its kind ever witnessed in Seattle. After the dedicatory exercises, the building was thrown open to the public, and 8,000 persons passed through the doors.

Two Parades in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Labor day was celebrated in this city with two great parades. One of the processions was that of the Building Trades Council. The other was comprised of unions affiliated with the labor council and city front federation. Organized labor never made a finer display here.

TO BULL THE COTTON MARKET

Millionaire Headley Admits He Has Formed a Huge Pool for That Purpose.

New York, Sept. 4.—Joseph H. Headley, inventor, millionaire and stock-market operator, admits that he has formed a huge pool for the purpose of bulling the cotton market. The amount of money involved is approximately $50,000,000. The pool has for its prime object the bulling of the cotton future market to such a point as to permit the pool to take profits on a line of about 200,000 bales of contracts for future delivery, which they have acquired at lower prices than the present. For this purpose the pool proposes to purchase 1,000,000 bales of spot cotton at about 10 cents from members of the Southern Cotton Growers' association.

GREAT Auction LOT SALE —AT— CLAY,

Webster County, Kentucky, on Friday and Saturday Sept. 15-16,

1905

Clay is the coming town of Webster county! Its agricultural resources cannot be surpassed! It is the center of a great mining development which will be traversed by three railroads! In a short time Clay will be to Webster county what Earlington is to Hopkins! The quality of its coal is surpassed by none and will be developed on a mammoth scale by eastern capital, which has been buying coal properties so very extensively during recent months.

This development is just in its infancy and big profits will be realized by all who have the enterprise to make investments in real estate there.

Real estate can not get away; it can not be destroyed by fire or flood and money planted in good property at Clay will grow many fold in value in a few years.

Most all great fortunes have been made in real estate by those who have foresight to get in on the ground floor at places where conditions force development like those which now exist at Clay.

The Clay Improvement Company will offer for sale at auction, one hundred building lots on September 15 and 16.

These lots are situated high and dry, are laid off in beautiful streets and convenient alleys, and present the best opportunities for the extension of building in this progressive little city.

The lots are right in the edge of town and located near the coal mining property of J. Pierpont Morgan & Company, which will be operated on a tremendous scale.

The Clay Improvement Company own and have for sale about two hundred and fifty lots, but will sell only one hundred. The reason for selling only one hundred is that when these are sold and built on, every remaining lot belonging to the Clay Improvement Company will enhance its value from one hundred to five hundred per cent.

Every purchaser of a lot in this sale will share in the enhancement of value in same proportion as the Clay Improvement Company. In other words, if a man buys a lot, for instance at one hundred dollars at this sale, and in two or three years the improvement of Clay enhances the value of the remaining lots of the Clay Improvement Company up to two hundred or five hundred each, a lot purchased at this sale for one hundred goes up in value in same proportion. Therefore those who get in on the ground floor at this sale will be the ones who reap the harvest of increase in value which is sure to come.

Take every town in this section of the country where the mining interest has been developed on a large scale and real estate has steadily climbed upward, but with Clay the conditions are more favorable, for the reason that three railroads afford competition in freight rates and tend to hasten development generally.

This is a legitimate business proposition with the Clay Improvement Company. It is willing that one hundred lots be sold off at low prices to purchasers at this sale, for the benefit it will be to the company in enhancing the value of its remaining lots, and pushing the development of Clay.

TERMS OF SALE:

Twenty dollars cash, balance payable ten dollars per month with six per cent. interest. Purchaser has option to pay all cash and receive discount of two per cent.

The terms of this sale offer an exceptional opportunity to young men wanting to start in business for themselves, and no line of business has more attractive features for the young man of ambition than real estate investment. Nothing is so sure to yield equal returns than to buy property in a live town and let the property grow in value as the town grows.

Get on the ground floor at Clay. Attend the big auction sale of lots. Plant a few dollars in a lot and watch them grow day by day and year by year. There is nothing to be lost. There is much to be made in Clay real estate.
